DITC Head Coach: Pat Coburn

The tournament season is here

I hope you have all noticed the influx of tournament play at the centre. DITC has been fortunate to host the NT's four major tournaments for 2021 all back to back over the last three weeks. These events have attracted over 100 interstate participants, all staying a minimum 7 days which is tennis doing its part to boost our NT economy. Amongst these players will likely be future Australian Davis and Fed Cup representatives as they represent a cross section of Australia's best emerging tennis talent. While it's been a big drain on all concerned we are grateful to host these events and play our part in showing Darwin off to so many first time visitors.

Our coaching program continues to evolve as players adjust to the style and expectation that represent our coaching brand. My personal highlight this term has been seeing so many new players progress into our match play programs. The Short Court Warriors Match Play (Friday 5-30 to 6-30pm) has proved a hit with players and parents as tennis moves from training to game play for the first time. The green ball and hard ball match play (Friday 5 to 7pm) has given our players a chance to tune their competitive skills as they prepare for term 3's return of the interclub junior competition.

A big congratulations to Coach Jason Wang for the work he is doing introducing tennis to Adult players of Chinese origin. It's great to see so many new faces at the centre and emphasizes our responsibility to bring tennis to the many cultures that make up the Darwin population.

During May DITC also hosted the annual Nepalese Association of NT tennis event. This concluded with a final on Centre court won by Dhruba Karki.

Why a “Messy” coaching court is a good thing

At its highest level Tennis remains a game of imperfections. Mistakes dominate with playing the perfect match something tennis players strive for but understand they will never achieve. In preparing participants for the sport we believe the coaching court has to reflect this imperfect environment. As coaches we hope you see us appreciating and rewarding players for their effort, energy and willingness to explore what's possible rather than what's comfortable. Being engaged in the exchange of the ball, even with modified rules provides context, giving a reason for improving technical skills which in turn extends the game into previously unexplored areas. Its commonly said that we learn through our mistakes which is exactly what the organised chaos of the messy court empowers.

Schools visit DITC Marrara

In June School Sport NT held its Darwin Gala Day at DITC Marrara. These sorts of Gala days through the school system introduce a lot of new faces to tennis and are crucial to the growth of the sport.
